Restorative Justice

- Restorative Justice builds community by providing a constructive framework to guide our responses to crime, conflict, offensive behavior, violations and injustices.
- Restorative Justice is needed in our homes, schools, workplaces, churches and criminal justice system.
- Restorative Justice values all people.
- Restorative Justice seeks to repair damages, (re)establish dignity and (re)integrate all who were harmed and alienated.
- Restorative Justice empowers those most impacted by the crime or misbehavior (victim, victim family, offender, offender family, and their larger communities which includes neighborhoods, churches, schools, etc.) to be involved in the justice process.
